UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
DISTRICT OF NEVADA

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA,

Plaintiff,

v.

DAVID M. MARK,

Defendant.

2:11-CR-00453-PMP-CWH

ORDER

On April 11, 2013, the jury returned a verdict of Guilty as to Defendant David Mark on the charges set forth in Counts 1, 5, 6, and 7, and verdicts of Not Guilty as to the charges in Counts 2, 3, and 4. The Indictment in this case further alleged Forfeiture Counts related to each Count of conviction for an in personam money judgment totaling $107,000,000. On April 16, 2013, the Court, on application of the Government, entered an Order of Forfeiture (Doc. #151) in that amount.

On April 19, 2013, Defendant Mark filed an Objection to Post Verdict Order of Forfeiture and Request for Hearing (Doc. #153). Subsequent filings by the parties and arguments presented at sentencing show that some of the Defendants in related cases have been subject to Forfeiture Orders ranging from as much as $107,000,000 to as little as zero. Counsel for Plaintiff United States argues that whether to seek an Order of Forfeiture, and if so, the amount of Forfeiture sought are matters entirely within the discretion of the 1 prosecution, and the Court has no discretion in fixing the amount. Nonetheless, in the midst

2 of arguments at the sentencing hearing conducted October 30, 2013, counsel for Plaintiff
3 United States modified the amount of forfeiture sought to $62,882,930. Defendant Mark
4 objects and argues the evidence adduced at trial does not support such a sum.

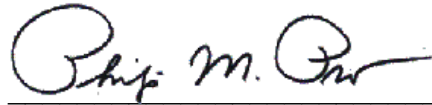

5 Plaintiff United States cites to numerous cases standing for the proposition that 6 unlike discretionary sentencing considerations such as length of sentence, terms of 7 supervision, amount of fine, and amount of restitution, criminal forfeiture is mandatory in 8 nature. See United States v. Newman, 659 F.3d 1235 (9th Cir. 2011). However, the Court 9 has “an independent duty to ‘determine the amount of money that the defendant will be 10 ordered to pay’” and must make factual determinations regarding the amount of the 11 forfeiture. Id. at 1245 (quoting Fed. R. Crim. P. 32(b)(1)(A)).

12 As this case so well illustrates, the Court’s ability to discharge this responsibility
13 is somewhat illusory, as it is based on the evidence the Government elects to present in its 14 sole discretion in any particular case. Fifteen Defendants in related cases have been subject
15 to Forfeiture Orders ranging from $107,000,000 to zero based upon the plea negotiations
16 and Motions for Forfeiture structured by the prosecution. While the Court does not find 17 that in this case the exercise of such prosecutorial discretion amounts to prosecutorial
18 misconduct constituting a due process violation, the Court finds both the originally 19 requested sum of $107,000,000, and the reduced amount of $62,882,930 are excessive in 20 relation to the forfeitures for the other Defendants, and reflect an abuse of prosecutorial
21 discretion which ties the Court’s hands resulting in extremely inequitable treatment of 22 Defendant Mark vis-a-vis other Defendants in related cases. Nevertheless, the Court
23 reluctantly recognizes its mandated obligation under Newman to order forfeiture in an 24 amount consistent with the evidence adduced at trial and in post trial proceedings, which 25 supports a monetary judgment of $62,882,930.

26 ///

1 IT IS THEREFORE ORDERED that the Forfeiture Order (Doc. #151) entered
2 April 16, 2013, is hereby modified to provide that the United States recover from David M.
3 Mark a criminal forfeiture money judgment of $62,882,930.
